

Home / 3a hair

Spray leave-in conditioners?

Email me the new replies

Doodles

2010-05-12 18:59

Does anyone have luck with these? I have some leftover BB K4C that I used yesterday. My hair seemed a lot lighter, more airy and had definition. I kind of liked it but was worried about it turning into a frizzy cotton candy mess as the day went on, plus it was humid and I had school, so I pulled it into my usual stand by ponytail. I used my usual of aloeba:

http://www.curlmart.com/Jessicurl-Aloeba-Daily-Conditioner-p-104.html?utm_source=naturallycurly.com&utm_medium=text-link&utm_content=curltalk-post-text&utm_campaign=jessicurl-aloeba-daily-conditioner today and my hair seems heavier. I'm thinking about maybe trying to dilute the aloeba:

http://www.curlmart.com/Jessicurl-Aloeba-Daily-Conditioner-p-104.html?utm_source=naturallycurly.com&utm_medium=text-link&utm_content=curltalk-post-text&utm_campaign=jessicurl-aloeba-daily-conditioner into a spray form and I'm even eyeballing Oyin's Juice & Berries: http://www.curlmart.com/Oyin-Handmade-Juices--Berries-p-757.html?utm_source=naturallycurly.com&utm_medium=text-link&utm_content=curltalk-post-text&utm_campaign=oyin-juices-and-berries-nourishing-herbal-leavein . Any experience or thoughts?

MOROCCANOIL
FREE shipping at beautycollection.com

BeautyCollection.com/Moroccan-Oil

Ads by Google

LoloDSM

2010-05-12 19:15

I use Jane Carter's Revitalizing Leave-In Conditioner:

http://www.curlmart.com/The-Jane-Carter-Solution-Revitalizing-Leave-In-Conditioner-p-549.html?utm_source=naturallycurly.com&utm_medium=text-link&utm_content=curltalk-post-text&utm_campaign=the-jane-carter-solution-revitalizing-leavein-conditioner . It smells good, helps detangle, and is very lightweight, but moisturizing.

FrizzBgone

2010-05-12 19:19

Quote:

Originally Posted by LoloDSM

I use Jane Carter's Revitalizing Leave-In Conditioner:

http://www.curlmart.com/The-Jane-Carter-Solution-Revitalizing-Leave-In-Conditioner-p-549.html?utm_source=naturallycurly.com&utm_medium=text-link&utm_content=curltalk-post-text&utm_campaign=the-jane-carter-solution-revitalizing-leavein-conditioner . It smells good,

helps detangle, and is very lightweight, but moisturizing.

link&utm_content=curltalk-post-text&utm_campaign=the-jane-carter-solution-revitalizing-leavein-conditioner . It smells good, helps detangle, and is very lightweight, but moisturizing.

I've used this one (above) as well as Oyin's Juice & Berries: http://www.curlmart.com/Oyin-Handmade-Juices--Berries-p-757.html?utm_source=naturallycurly.com&utm_medium=text-link&utm_content=curltalk-post-text&utm_campaign=oyin-juices-and-berries-nourishing-herbal-leavein . They are both good spray leave-ins ... but I still prefer the cremes. I don't find the spray ones enough. Out of the two though, I found Jane Carter to be the better leave-in. I prefer the smell of Oyin's but the results of Jane Carter.

I use the Jane Carter one on my daughter's hair all the time. She has very fine 2a-b wavy hair ... it gets weighed down easily. This one works really well on her hair.

nickie@goodgirlpr.com

2010-05-17 10:37

I love The Jane Carter Revitalizing Leave In Conditioner as well. It prevents my hair from being dry in between washes and workouts!

Reply

Name:

Content:

Other posts in this category

- I can't NOT brush
- At what length does your hair curl best?
- best curl definer
- please help!!!!
- Seeking a Silicone-free Leave-in Conditioner...
- 3a haircut??
- Am I a 3A?
- Mag-sulfate question...
- Clarifying preferences...
- Which came first? The curl creme or the gel

Ask Question

 SHARE    ...